Newspaper Clippings

These clippings are mostly undated but appear to be primarily from the 1870s-1890s. Most of the clippings are of poems but a few shed light on the career of Kate Baker. In one clipping, a correspondent of The Inter Ocean (Chicago) writes that "Miss Kitty is cultivating one of the sweetest voices that we have ever listened to." In another, Kate Baker is mentioned as having taught wood carving at the Illinois Industrial University.

Drawings and Illustrations (Oversize)

These drawings and illustrations are undated but appear to primarily be from the 1870s and 1880s. Many of the sketches were evidently rendered by Kate Baker and the objects depicted include human anatomy, flowers, and facial features. There are also commercial illustrations as well as two pencil drawings by Kate's sister Elizabeth signed "L. B. Gow." (Elizabeth's first husband was David Gow.)

Box 11

Scrapbook (Oversize)

This scrapbook contains mostly undated newspaper clippings circa 1870s-1880s. It includes a notice of the death of Sallie Maria Baker, Kate Baker's stepmother, marriage announcements of Cobden, Illinois, acquaintances, a Champaign Times item telling of Kate's work as a wood carving instructor, a composition book, and copies of The Alumni Journal (of the Hampton Institute) and the Urbana Weekly Courier.

Scrapbook

"Lizzie" Baker compiled this scrapbook of newspaper clippings documenting her editorial efforts in behalf of suffrage in Washington State, 1909-1910. She then sent this scrapbook to her sister Kate Baker Busey. "They (the newspaper clippings) may not seem of so much importance to you now," Lizzie wrote to Kate, "but I feel sure that the work of this arduous year in the State of Wash. will be a useful reminder at some future day—at least to your girls—of what the women of 1910 did that they might come into their own as I feel sure in the evolution of things they will."

Hiram J. Dunlap Scrapbook (Oversize)

Hiram J. Dunlap was a writer and editor for the Champaign County Gazette, 1875-1890. Dunlap served as a U.S. consul at Breslau, Germany, in 1890-1891 and as a U.S. commercial agent at Furth, Bavaria, 1891-1893. (Between 1905 and 1915 he would again serve as a U.S. consul, this time in Cologne, Germany.) The Hiram J. Dunlap

Scrapbook consists mostly of clippings of articles Dunlap penned while in Germany conveying his impressions of that country. The scrapbook also contains notices of Hiram Dunlap's appointment to Germany and an obituary of Ellen "Nellie" Dunlap as well as several loose items, including a copy of a purported message of "Emelina" Dunlap "given through the mediumship of Mrs. Maggie Waite."
